

Pick Them Out

Pick out the men who have used Electro-Vigor and you will see men of force, men of power and confidence, men who respect themselves and are respected and admired by their fellow-men.

Who does not like to be strong, to feel that he is equal in strength to any man of his age? You can be if you will obey the appeal here made to you.

Drugs have been tried and have failed. You know that; but Electro-Vigor cannot fail; it is electricity, and "electricity is life." It gives you the oil with which to set the machinery of your body in motion, and a month's use of it will give you health and happiness.

Electro-Vigor is the electric, invigorating device that pumps a stream of vim into your body while you sleep. It renews the spirit of ambition and hustle. It makes men out of slow-going, discouraged weaklings. If you have a pain it drives it out. If you have stomach trouble, lumbago, sciatica, kidney or liver complaint or just a loss of nerve force, Electro-Vigor will restore you to perfect health.

I am thoroughly satisfied with Electro-

Vigor. It has cured me of lumbago and restored my strength.

Letters From the Public

Editor Advertiser:—In compiling some figures the other day intended to show the comparative cost of public education here and in certain States on the mainland, I find that I fell into a curious error, but as the mistake in question told directly against the side I was advocating I think it may be assumed to have been honestly made.

In calculating the cost of public education per capita of the whole population I took the amounts expended as shown by the last report of the school department and divided it by the estimated population, getting thereby the following results:

On an estimated population of 180,000, $3.89; 190,000, $3.70; 200,000, $3.50.

I now find that the amounts given in the report above referred to were for the biennial period, while the mainland figures were for a single year. Therefore, to get a fair basis for comparison the figures given for this Territory must be divided by two.

When this is done we get the following result, viz.: cost per capita for the whole population:

On an estimated population of 180,000, $1.95; 190,000, $1.85; 200,000, $1.75.

The above figures are commended to the careful consideration of those who claim that the burdens imposed by our system of free schools are almost intolerable, and that they can not be increased without great hardship and injustice.

"TEACHER'S" LAST WORD.

Editor Advertiser:—I see from his last that my friend "Employer" is in a thoughtful, even an open-minded, mood. He calls aloud for instruction, and when did the female heart remain obdurate to the call for solace or instruction? "Employer" and "Teacher" are now approaching common ground. If they could know each other, talk and reason together, I am sure there would be substantial agreement, between them, or us, both in thought and action.

"Teacher" would favorably begin his—or rather her instruction—it does not matter about gender—by saying: "My dear Employer, we both agree that your dog, of high degree, your horse and your ox must, to be efficient as workers, be supplied with the necessities of life, food and shelter. When it comes to men, women and children, a slight advance is humane, even necessary. We both agree, my good Employer, that human wants arise in something like this order:

1. Necessities.
2. Conveniences.
3. Comforts.
4. Luxuries.
5. Ostentations.

We do not mean that all these orders are conducive to the best estate of man. We do agree, however, that every one who works hard should have the necessities, the conveniences, and some of the comforts of life. Luxuries can be dispensed with, even for you, my dear "Employer." We are all better off without them. As for ostentations, show, rivalry in expenditure, waste of wealth—this is all unworthy of sensible, educated people—only the parvenu would do this.

Now, my good friend, "Employer," your Teacher tells you that your calling is a high and noble one. You have energy, ability, capital and employees at your command. Perhaps it is not wholly owing to your own merits that you have all or any of these things with which to produce your large amount of wealth. I dare say, nature is kind to you and gives you something, and society—your engineers, machinists, workers in the past and workers in the present, give you the other things. It is your high, your sacred duty to give something as an equivalent for what society has given you. Service for service. Food, shelter, clothing, conveniences, comforts to the humblest of your employees, a mite to the education of their children, and not begrudging what little tax you pay to employ competent teachers to instruct them. And now, Mr. "Employer," I hope that my instruction may make you a "sadder and a wiser" man. Finis.

TEACHER.

CITIZEN LABOR.

Editor Advertiser:—I noticed this morning a number of Asiatics standing in front of County Treasurer Trent's office receiving sums in gold coin. I first thought the law concerning citizen labor had been violated, but inquiry brought out the information that the men were Chinese and Japanese shopkeepers waiting to secure amounts due them from men who are employed on the roads, and in other departments of the county, and who were being paid the money that had been held up for some time. I think I remember a reference in your paper a short time ago to one of the labor unions in this city holding a meeting and demanding employment because they happened to be citizens by birth or adoption. An inspection of their hats on that occasion showed that nine out of ten had made their purchases at Japanese stores. Is history repeating itself? AMERICAN.

THE FIFTY DOLLAR QUESTION.

Editor Advertiser:—In yours of the 24th inst a correspondent asks: "How can a teacher live on $50 a month" or $600 per annum? I will show you how: Board $40 per month, per annum $480 Washing, $2 per month..... 24

$484

For clothing, carfare to and from school, doctor, dentist, and incidentals, cash for twelve months

Do you think it would repay a parent to keep a child at school until it graduates and then send it to the Normal School for another two years to enable it to earn this magnificent stipend? Where and how could that child save aught for its future?

CROUP.

The first symptom of this disease is hoarseness. When Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, the attack can always be averted. Even after the croupy cough has appeared, the attack can be warded off by the prompt use of this remedy. It is a certain cure for croup and has never been known to fail. For sale by all dealers.
